CORTEYOU DECLINES.

Will Not Accept Presidency of a Trust Company.

New York, Jan. 16.—It has become known that the interests identified with the reorganization of the Knickerbocker Trust company had considered the name of Secretary Cortelyou, among others, to take the presidency of that institution, and that an intimation more or less positive in character had been conveyed to the secretary within the past few days of the consideration of his name. One of the leading representatives of the reorganization interests of the trust company was authority for the statement that the intimation had assumed a quite definite character, taking the form of a tender of the presidency of the company. It was stated by this same authority that no response had been received, but that one was expected. Mr. Cortelyou will arrive at a decision at an early date. This statement was made before Secretary Cortelyou had given out an authoritative announcement of his intention not to resign from the cabinet. In view of the latter announcement it was assumed that any tender or intimation of his coming to New York as president of this company has been definitely rejected.

It appears that the consideration of Mr. Cortelyou's name was taken up by the committee of depositors recently formed, and not by the trustees who are at present conducting the affairs of the trust company.

Prisoner Fond of Fresh Air.

A colored fellow in the jail at Columbus, O., is a great lover of fresh air. He begs the jailer to let him out in front to scrub the steps, says the Columbus Dispatch. Of course his request is granted, and the steps are always white and clean as any floor. He likes to stay out so well that he will scrub them over two or three times each morning, and it is said that he would keep scrubbing all day if the jailer would let him. The amount of energy that he displays in this work would have kept him out of jail altogether. He says that when he gets out he will work all the time; no more jail for him.

DEATH LIST OF THE CORONER

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 16.—Bearing up bravely under the awful blow which it received in the destruction of Rhoades Opera House by fire, this thriving little borough has come to a full realization of the fact that one-fifteenth of its population was wiped out of existence by the holocaust. The figures compiled by Coroner Strasser show that there are 170 dead as a result of the fire. The list of dead includes one fireman who lost his life fighting the fire and one man, Jacob Johnson, who died from injuries received in the blazing playhouse. Three more charred bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the building and of the 168 bodies, or remains, that lie in the improvised morgue, 115 have been officially or partially identified by sorrowing relatives or friends. The private morgues in the town were not of sufficient size to receive the bodies of those taken from the fire ruins and the public school was also used as a charnel house. Here, where a number of the victims went daily to their studies, the bodies were laid out in rows. Each bit of jewelry or fragment of clothing picked up in the blackened ruins was tagged, as were the charred and blackened bodies, or such portions of them as remain, and all in search of missing loved ones were permitted to pass through these gruesome rows to make identifications. Some of the bodies could not be recognized by the features alone, as in most cases the upper portion of the corpses was seared or burned to a crisp.

Scenes at the Morgue.

The scenes at the morgue were heart-rending. Children of tender years were in some cases called upon to assist in making the identification of the parents who went to an untimely death in the fire and panic, and again, feeble men and women were racked with anguish as they came upon some distorted body in which they recognized the form of a lost son or daughter.

Before any of the bodies were removed from the morgue, Coroner Strasser empaneled a jury to sit at the inquest.

After the jury had been sworn in they made an inspection of the ruins and went through the morgues. No date has been fixed for the inquest.

There were fifty-five undertakers or their representatives in the town and there was plenty for them to do, as all were called upon to assist in preparing the remains for inspection and identification.

Coroner Strasser says that not more than twenty-five of the entire number of bodies removed from the fire have heads. There are several trunks that will probably never be identified, as there were several strangers in the audience that witnessed the play.

John Rhoades and his grandson, who were supposed to have been killed in the fire, and Mrs. John Dyer, another supposed victim, have turned up.

A committee has been appointed to make a canvass of the borough and arrange for the proper burial of the dead. A call has also been issued for volunteers to help dig the graves necessary to bury the victims.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 16.—Of six persons who formed a skating party at the Jintown reservoir near here, five were drowned. They are:

John Luxner, George Cochran, Frank Cochran, Jr., a brother; William Fullmer and Elizabeth Fullmer, a sister.

Miss Fullmer and George Cochran started toward the center of the reservoir, but had not gone far when the ice broke and they were thrown into the water. Cochran supported the girl with one hand and clung to the broken edges of the ice with the other. In an instant a human chain was formed by the other four, who clasped hands with Andrew Mack, the only survivor, at the end of the line nearest the shore. Just as a hand was being reached out to grasp Miss Fullmer, there was another crash of ice. Frank Cochran, Luxner and William Fullmer had also gone down, the thin ice giving way under their combined weight. Mack was obliged to dash to shore. Helpless to save them, he saw his merry companions of a few moments before go to their deaths. None of the bodies has been recovered.

OFFICERS ENTERTAINED.

American Admirals Breakfast With the President of Brazil.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 16.—The president of the republic, Dr. Penna, entertained the admirals and some of the higher officers of the American fleet at breakfast at Petropolis. Later in the day there was a garden party at the American embassy in the same suburb. Though Rear Admiral Evans could not be present at these functions, the fleet was represented by Admirals Thomas, Emory and Sperry, Captain Osterhaus of the flagship Connecticut, Captain Wainwright of the Louisiana, Captain Hubbard of the Minnesota, Captain McCrea of the Georgia and Captain Murdock of the Rhode Island. Baron Rio Branco, the minister of foreign affairs, was not able to be present on account of sickness.

The breakfast of the president was given at the palace, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and greens and the Brazilian and American flags.

There were warm interchanges of fraternal greetings, Dr. Penna speaking eloquently and in the warmest terms of the friendship entertained in the Brazilian republic for the great republic to the north.

In reply the American ambassador, Irving B. Dudley, warmly thanked the president for his kind allusions to the relations of friendship existing between the United States and Brazil, and for the magnificent reception which awaited the Americans on their arrival in this country and they were now enjoying.

NUNS LEAVE HOSPITAL.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The departure of the Augustinian nuns from the municipal hospital, where they have acted in the capacity of nurses for generations, was made the occasion for a manifestation in which the police finally had to intervene.

In expectation of the event, Denys Cochin and some other Catholic deputies, several members of the municipal council and a large crowd collected around the hospital. The sisters, after chanting some hymns and the Crede in the court of the hospital, emerged from the building amid cries of "Long live the sisters." Convolescents at the hospital windows also expressed their sympathy with their former nurses. The sisters got into several waiting carriages. At this moment some men rushed forward and began unhitching the horses, planning to drag the sisters' carriages themselves. When the police saw what was going on they decided to intervene. Their action was greeted by the manifestants with shouts of "Down with the republic." One man struck a policeman with a cane, whereupon several arrests were made. The horses were then re-hitched to the carriages and without further incident the sisters were driven to the church of Notre Dame de Bon Secours. Here Cardinal Richard held a service on behalf of the sisters, at the conclusion of which he blessed the faithful present.

TROOPS IN GOLDFIELD.

Legislators Want Them to Remain for Some Time to Come.

Carson, Nev., Jan. 16.—A joint caucus of the special committee of the senate and assembly of the Nevada legislature met and framed a joint resolution which will be introduced in the senate asking the president of the United States to retain troops in Goldfield until such time as the state can provide either a police force or other means to maintain order in the mining camp. The resolution will undoubtedly pass the senate, while the general impression among the members of the lower house is that it will go through that body by a small majority.

SOLDIERS RAID A RESORT.

Drive Out Inmates and Demolish the Building.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 16.—A mob of thirty soldiers from Fort Leavenworth, enraged by their suspicion concerning the death of a comrade, whose body was found in a burning building in the tenderloin Saturday morning and by assaults on others of their comrades, raided "The Gem," a resort here, driving out the inmates and demolishing the building.

The occupants of the house escaped uninjured. None of the soldiers is known to the police and no arrests have been made.

Costly Fire at Hibbing, Minn.

Duluth, Jan. 16.—Fire did damage to the extent of probably $50,000 at Hibbing when the freight house of the Duluth, Missabe and Northern railway, together with the contents, was consumed. The contents are estimated to have been worth between $30,000 and $40,000 at least. An explosion of gasoline stored in the freight house injured two or three persons during the conflagration.

BOTH FIGHTING TAFT

Senators Foraker and Dick Opposing War Secretary.

HOLDING UP APPOINTMENTS

More Than a Score of Ohio Nominations Not Yet Confirmed—Trying to Thwart Building of "Federal Machine" for Nomination of Taft.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senators Foraker and Dick did not hesitate to let it be known among their colleagues that they would continue to frustrate, as far as lay in their power, every alleged attempt of the president to turn federal patronage into a machine for nominating a presidential candidate. The success of these two senators in securing the rejection of four Ohio postoffice appointments has aroused the senate to a knowledge of the fact that they are investigating at the present time no less than twenty-five Ohio appointments which have reached the committee on postoffices and post roads and have been referred to Senator Dick as a sub-committee. These nominations are simply known as the "held up" kind so far, and they may or may not go through for confirmation, according to the way the two Ohio senators view them.

Such is the power of any pair of senators from a state that a nomination which is looked upon by them with disfavor never gets past the post-office committee with a favorable report. The two Ohioans have let it be known that they propose to thwart the building of a federal machine for the nomination of Secretary Taft, if their power to head off the confirmation of postoffice appointments in Ohio is of any avail.

SPRINGS A SENSATION.

Heney Makes Significant Announcement on Land Fraud Cases.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 16.—Francis J. Heney created somewhat of a sensation when he announced in Judge Hunt's courtroom that of the five persons indicted in connection with the Butte creek alleged land fraud cases, only two, Former United States Attorney John H. Hall and Edwin Mays, would be tried at this time. This is taken to indicate that there exists an understanding between Heney and the other three defendants, Former State Senator W. W. Stiewer, H. H. Hendricks and Charles N. Sachary, and that they will testify against Hall and Mays when called upon. It has been reported for several days that immunity will be given certain of the defendants and Heney's announcement is believed to confirm the rumors.

Low Rate to Europe.

New York, Jan. 16.—Following the refusal of the Cunard company to come to terms, the International Mercantile Marine company again cut its eastbound steerage rates on vessels of the White Star and American lines taking a total reduction in this class of $11.25 since the rate war began. The cut was met by the Cunard company. A rate of $10 to Europe may soon be offered.

ADMIRERS OF BRYAN.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 16.—Nearly 1,300 political friends and personal admirers of William J. Bryan attended in the capacity of diners and speakers at the dollar Democratic dinner at the Lincoln auditorium. Half as many more occupied seats as spectators and heartily applauded the good things said about Democracy and Mr. Bryan himself. It was the largest and one of the most successful affairs of the kind held in Lincoln since Mr. Bryan became an influential factor in the politics of Nebraska and was intended as an endorsement of his candidacy for the presidency and a declaration that he was, in the minds of those present, the logical choice of the party.

Of those present probably 1,000 were Nebraska men, but there was a sprinkling from near-by states. The speeches without exception were aggressively Democratic, but some good words were said for President Roosevelt and there were kindly expressions for radical leaders in the Republican camp. The speeches, with the exception of that of Governor Broward of Florida, were extended, carrying the dinner until long past midnight, but with Mr. Bryan last on the programme the crowd remained throughout.

QUESTION IS SETTLED.

Canada and Japan Solve Immigration Problem.

Tokio, Jan. 16.—The Canadian immigration question has been settled. The Japanese government has received notice that the report of Rodolphe Lendoux, Canadian minister of labor, is entirely satisfactory to the Canadian government and that it would accept in good faith the verbal promise of the restriction of the emigration of laborers, relying upon the Japanese government to enforce the regulations which are outlined in its memorandum.

Nothing now remains except the exchange of memoranda between the two governments.

Dewey's Secretary a Suicide.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The body of Lieutenant John W. Crawford, private secretary to Admiral Dewey, has been found below Fort Foote on the Maryland side of the Potomac. He disappeared, on Nov. 22, last, leaving a note to a friend that he was driven to end his life by financial trouble.

The inquisitive visitor to the studio of the famous but crochety artist propounded the query, "What do you mix your colors with?"

"Ah," commented the visitor, "so you paint miniatures?"

FREIGHT TRAIN

HIT LOG TRAIN

South Bound Local Telescoped Caboose of Log Train at Hackensack

NOBODY WAS HURT IN CRASH

Caboose was Wrecked and Engine Derailed Completely Blocking Main Track

The troubles which follow inevitably in the wake of cold weather, in rail-roading, commenced on the Minnesota & International road this morning when No. 44, the south bound local freight crashed into the rear of a log train standing on the main line at Hackensack. The rails were frosty, the local had a heavy train and engine No. 10, with Fred Stillings at the throttle, was unable to hold the load down the heavy grade. The caboose on the log train was a tetotal wreck when the dust settled and the engine was off the track and standing nearly cornerwise on the rails. Luckily no one was hurt and as the accident occurred between the switches and the side track was not blocked by the wreckage there was no delay of the passenger train. The helper engine from Bemidji brought in the local this afternoon.

Disinterested Professional Advice. "Bring me that beefsteak potpie!" "Yassah," said the dining car waiter, listening near by.

"And bring me some of those French peas!"

"Yassah; but boss, maybe you all don't know dey's French peas in dat pie."

"No, I didn't. Thanks, George. And—ah—and—ah, then bring me some potatoes."

"Yassah, boss; but maybe you all didn't know dey's tatehs, too, in dat pie."

"No, I didn't. Thanks again, George. It's mighty nice of you to keep me from buying a lot of stuff I wouldn't want."

Bacteria In Butter.

"Bacteriologists have shown us that ordinary butter is swarming with germs," declares Good Health. "A single teaspoonful of milk generally contains from 2,000,000 to 10,000,000 germs. The number may even be much larger than this. In the removal of cream from the milk the germs are taken with it, and in the process of churning the germs are collected with the fat, so in the butter we have the concentration of a large part of the germs contained in the milk from which the butter was derived. So in a pound of butter derived from twenty pints of milk the number of bacteria must be almost beyond estimate. A brief computation will show that the number of bacteria contained in a pound of butter might easily reach the enormous sum of five to ten billions."

A Touch of Vanity.

On Nov. 25—St. Catherine's day—French girls who have passed their twenty-fifth birthday and are unmarried wear a little cap made of fine muslin, the symbol of maidhood. As the day approaches the millinery shops show these caps in great quantities, and their manufacture by young girls is always accompanied by jokes at the expense of old maids; but, strange to relate, these caps, because they are becoming to all, are worn on St. Catherine's day by young girls as well as by old maids.

Where It Doesn't Apply.

"But," protested the thoughtful thinker, "there is one thing that can never be slow and sure."

"What's that?" queried the quotation dispenser.

Gave a Mule to a College.

Charles Tamer of Salina, Kan., has given to the Kansas Wesleyan university, located in Salina, the best mule in his barn, valued at probably $200, says a Salina correspondent of the Kansas City Journal. The animal will be sold at public auction on the street in Salina on Jan. 25, and as the bidding will be spirited among friends of the university the mule is expected to bring close to $1,000.

The Good Time Coming.

When airships come into common use, says the Chicago Record-Herald, people who tell us how far it is as the crow flies will be of real service.

The Modern Idea.

He knelt before the gentle maid And held her hands within his own. She looked down at him, half afraid. And yet was glad they were alone.

"Be mine," he said, "and I will swear To guard you well from want and woe. The smarting sorrows others bear, My darling, you shall never know."

She heard his heartfelt, eager plea And answered with a little smile: "Your proposition pleases me. I think I'll take you on awhile." —Chicago Record-Herald.

FESTIVAL OF THE DEAD.

Eskimos Provide Food and Clothes For Returning Ghosts.

The natives of the Yukon river region hold a festival of the dead every year shortly before Christmas and a greater festival at intervals of several years. At these seasons food drink and clothes are provided for the returning ghosts in the clubhouse of the village, which is illuminated for the occasion with oil lamps. Every man or woman who wishes to honor a dead friend sets up a lamp on a stand in front of the place which the dead one used to occupy in the clubhouse. These lamps, filled with seal oil, are kept burning day and night until the festival is over. They are believed to light the shades on their return to their old home and back again to the land of the dead. If any one fails to put up a lamp in the clubhouse and to keep it burning the shade whom he or she desires to honor could not find its way to the place and so would miss the feast. When a person has been much disliked his ghost is sometimes purposely ignored, and that is deemed the severest punishment that could be inflicted upon him. After the songs of invitation to the dead have been sung the givers of the feast take a small portion of food from every dish and cast it down as an offering to the shades. Then each pours a little water on the floor so that it runs through the cracks. In this way they believed the spiritual essence of all the food and water is conveyed to the souls. With songs and dances the feast comes to an end and the ghosts are dismissed to their own place. The dancers dance, not only in the clubhouse, but also at the graves and on the ice if the dead met their deaths by drowning. On the eve of the festival the nearest male relative goes to the grave and summons the ghost by planting there a small model of a seal spear or of a wooden dish, according as the dead was a man or a woman. The totems of the dead are marked on these implements. The dead who have none to make offerings to them are believed to suffer great destitution; hence the Eskimos fear to die without leaving behind them some one who will sacrifice to their spirit, and childless people generally adopt children lest their shades be forgotten at the festivals.—New York Tribune.

A QUEER TREE

The mature tumbo is a tree with a trunk about two feet long, shaped much like an inverted cone. Almost all the trunk is below the surface of the ground, the visible part rarely exceeding a few inches. But the remarkable feature of the stem is that it is often fourteen feet in circumference and becomes more or less a two lobed image. The stem looks more like a great mass of "the burned crust of a loaf of bread," to quote Dr. Welwitsch's letter, than the trunk of a tree. The underground portion becomes greatly elongated, and its continuation is the top root of the plant. This goes down several feet in its effort to get the few drops of water that the arid conditions of the country permit.

There are never more than two leaves after the seed leaves drop off, and very curious leaves they are. Starting from a groove on opposite sides of the depressed mass, they stand straight out on both sides of the plant. They are often six feet long and two feet wide and usually split into ribbons that undulate over the ground in a way strikingly suggestive of the tentacles of an octopus. With its great ugly body and its tentacle-like leaves it is no wonder that it has been the most remarkable plant novelty of the last century. The flowers are borne in scarlet cones on a cymose inflorescence coming from the crown of the trunk.

Tumbos bainesil belongs to the joint fir family, or gnetaceae, and is known only from Portuguese West Africa to Damaraland. This is a region that seldom gets any rain, and desert conditions prevail almost completely, except for the sea fogs. The tumbo is thus a desert plant par excellence, and it is only by a close approximation of these very arid conditions that we can cultivate it.—New York Botanic Garden.

Question of Nationality.

An Englishman, a Frenchman and a German sitting together in the smoking room of an ocean liner, the conversation turned on their nationality, and one of them asked what each of the three would choose to be if he were not of his own nation. The Frenchman said, "If I were not a Frenchman, I would be an Englishman." The Englishman said, "If I were not an Englishman, I would wish to be one." The German, "If I were not a German I would wish not to be a German."—Carl Peters in Deutsche Monatschrift.

On Yawning.

I have come to the conclusion that if a man yawns and you don't want to yawn, too, the only way to prevent it is to blow your nose. A man of my acquaintance boasts that he can set a whole railway carriage full of people yawning by merely taking time over it himself, and I believe he can.—Fry's Magazine.

The Ruins.

First Visitor—Most interesting country round about here. Have you seen the ruins? Second Visitor (who has just paid his bill)—Yes; I suppose you mean the guests leaving this hotel.—London Answers.

Came Old Reason.

"I've played the ponies to my grief year in, year out, day after day." "Then why do you keep at it?" "Well, I've got a good thing for to-morrow."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

W. H. CLEARY

IS PRESIDENT

Popular Wholesale Grocer Selected to Lead the Commercial Club Next Year

OTHER OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The board of directors of the Commercial Club met Wednesday evening and elected W. H. Cleary, the hustling wholesale grocer as president for the coming year. Edward Crust was re-elected vice president and W. D. McKay secretary. The board of directors then adjourned to give the newly elected president an opportunity to name his committees before meeting to formulate plans for the coming year's campaign.

The selection of Mr. McCleary is considered one of the best that could be made by most of the members who have been heard to express themselves, as he is a hustler and deeply interested in the prosperity of Brainerd. That there will be something doing during his incumbency is the opinion of all.

To get rid of daughters East Indians marry them to flowers. When the flowers die the girls are widows, and widows can be sold cheap.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The board of directors held their postponed regular meeting Wednesday evening, there being a good attendance and a very interesting meeting held.

The treasurer's report, presented by A. T. Larson showed encouraging features and the new finance committee, composed of Messrs. W. H. Strachan, as chairman, W. A. M. Johnston and John Carlson, will soon have the financial situation in hand so as to give complete satisfaction. Mr. Johnston is now a member of the board and his assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Dr. Nicholson gave the report of his section, the physical work, and it reveals work done by his committee. They find the gymnasium work to be handicapped by lack of sufficient apparatus; also that the shower baths are an imperative need and will be installed at a very early date. They are now making arrangements for a gymnastic exhibition to be given in the opera house the latter part of March.

The educational and social work committees were shown to have been busy as was also the ladies who will soon have a definitely organized ladies auxiliary.

C. D. McKay presented some matters under the religious work regarding the coming of Mr. Fenno and arrangements are being made for ten days evangelistic work. Mr. Fenno is to speak at the shops at noons and in the churches on Sunday. The afternoon meetings at the Y. M. C. A. are to be for both men and women.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

Good Advice and Liberal Offer From a Well Known Brainerd Druggist

H. P. Dunn has been advising all who suffer from any of the symptoms of catarrh, such as offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose, discharges and droppings in the throat, catching spasms and general weakness and debility, to use Hyomei. He goes so far as to offer to refund the money to any user of Hyomei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.

Quick relief follows the use of the Hyomei treatment; the stoppage of the nose is removed, the droppings ceases, the breath becomes pure and sweet, and the catarrhal germs are destroyed and their growth prevented.

Hyomei is the surest, simplest, quickest, easiest and cheapest way to cure catarrh. It does not drug and derange the stomach; it goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroying the catarrhal germs and healing and vitalizing the tissues.

Go to H. P. Dunn's today and buy a complete Hyomei outfit for $1.00 with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, your money will be refunded.

Popular Wholesale Grocer Selected to Lead the Commercial Club Next Year

OTHER OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The board of directors of the Commercial Club met Wednesday evening and elected W. H. Cleary, the hustling wholesale grocer as president for the coming year. Edward Crust was re-elected vice president and W. D. McKay secretary. The board of directors then adjourned to give the newly elected president an opportunity to name his committees before meeting to formulate plans for the coming year's campaign.

The selection of Mr. McCleary is considered one of the best that could have been heard to express themselves, as he is a hustler and deeply interested in the prosperity of Brainerd. That there will be something doing during his incumbency is the opinion of all.

Minnesota Park Region Land Company Receives that Amount on Fifteen Quarters

OPTION IS FOR ONE YEAR

Northwestern Improvement Company, Subsidiary of Northern Pacific Gets Option

There was another heavy deal on the Cuyuna range the details of which have just leaked out. This was the taking of an option for a lease on fifteen forties of land owned by the Minnesota Park Region Land company by the Northwestern Improvement company. The land is located south of the track between Klondike and Brainerd and the Northwestern Improvement company paid down $10,000 in cash for the privilege of exploration with option for a mining lease. The terms of the lease to be executed if the option is taken up are not made public, but are said to be about the same as to amount of ore to be mined and royalty paid as other leases executed on the range. There are already two drills at work on the land and there will probably be several more put to work early in the spring if not sooner. The Northwestern Improvement company is a subsidiary company of the Northern Pacific railroad company and is the same company which paid the Orelands company $40,000 for the eighty near Deerwood last summer. The activity of the company is acquiring mining properties looks as if the Northern Pacific proposed to get into the ore hauling business even if it had to mine the ore itself.

The Park Region Land company, of which, J. M. Elder, and other Brainerd people are heavily interested, is reported to have declared a dividend of nine per cent on January first, and still has about 10,000 acres of land left it is said.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

H. P. Dunn has been advising all who suffer from any of the symptoms of catarrh, such as offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose, discharges and droppings in the throat, catching spasms and general weakness and debility, to use Hyomei. He goes so far as to offer to refund the money to any user of Hyomei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.

Quick relief follows the use of the Hyomei treatment; the stoppage of the nose is removed, the dropping ceases, the breath becomes pure and sweet, and the catarrhal germs are destroyed and their growth prevented.

Hyomei is the surest, simplest, quickest, easiest and cheapest way to cure catarrh. It does not drug and derange the stomach; it goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroying the catarrhal germs and healing and vitalizing the tissues.

Go to H. P. Dunn's today and buy a complete Hyomei outfit for $1.00 with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, your money will be refunded. 188-190-194

PAINTING'S ODD FATE.

LOST FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Disappeared on Way to Chicago Fair. Now In Syracuse Museum—Adorned For Years Cottage of Hunter Who Found It—Present Owner Would Now Buy It.

After fifteen years of almost constant inquiry Firman Girard, the eminent painter, has at last discovered a valuable painting which disappeared while en route to the Chicago World's fair in 1893, says a special cable dispatch from Paris to the New York Times.

M. Girard sent twelve pictures for exhibition at the fair, but only ten arrived there. What became of the two remaining pictures is a mystery. M. Girard trusted the search to Donald Harper, an American lawyer in Paris. Mr. Harper recently learned that one of the pictures is now in Syracuse, N. Y.

Exposed for three years to the winds, rain and snow in the Montezuma marshes, to be found by a lonely hunter and guide and used as a decoration for his cottage for years and finally rescued for the Syracuse Museum of Arts, is the remarkable history of this valuable painting, which disappeared years ago.

The painting, which is valued at more than $3,000, is entitled "A Visit to a Florist's Conservatory." It represents a woman in the conservatory choosing flowers, with the gardener near at hand, the conservatory buildings showing in the background.

Before the Chicago World's fair M. Girard consigned under the care of the French government twelve paintings for exhibition at the Chicago fair. Although the consignment reached New York apparently intact, the picture which has now found its home in Syracuse and another one were missing upon its arrival at Chicago.

In the winter of 1896 a hunter who lives in the Montezuma marshes and acts as a guide to hunters in that region, while trapping in an unfrequented part of that immense swamp near the point where the tracks of the New York Central pass, came upon a soiled and wrinkled canvas. Taking it home, he cleaned it as best he could and hung it upon his wall. Several months later a peddler who chanced by saw it. Appreciating that it had something more than an ordinary value, he endeavored to dicker for its possession. His anxiety, however, aroused the trapper, and he refused to sell.

The hunter thought little more of the matter until about five years ago when Louis Will, a Syracuse manufacturer and a trustee of the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts, engaged this man as a guide. Learning that Mr. Will was a connoisseur, the man mentioned the canvas, but at the time Mr. Will thought nothing of it. Later the man again approached him on the subject, but without arousing his curiosity. Later, when he heard of the circumstances surrounding the discovery of the picture, Mr. Will was sufficiently interested to see it.

When the trapper exhibited the canvas, Mr. Will did not realize its true value, although satisfied that it possessed no ordinary merit. He offered a moderate sum and became its owner. Upon his return home he asked Dr. George F. Comfort, director of the museum, to look at it. The instant Dr. Comfort saw the canvas he recognized the peculiar style of the noted Frenchman and felt sure that the signature it bore was genuine.

Mr. Will had the canvas cleaned and hung in his library. He commissioned Dr. Comfort to ascertain how it came to be lost in that out of the way corner of the earth. Dr. Comfort got into communication with the artist and a voluminous correspondence has resulted. He found that the French government and the painter had been conducting an energetic search for the painting, although M. Girard had been compensated for its value by an insurance company.

Desiring to retain the painting, Mr. Will has since been in correspondence with the French consul in New York and Donald Harper, an American lawyer in Paris, who represents M. Girard, in an effort to determine its exact title, so that he may safely make the purchase.

MENTALLY UNSOUND

Witnesses Testify Regarding Thaw's Condition.

BUILDING UP THE DEFENSE

Attorneys for Accused Man Adhere Strictly to Their Promise to Interpose No Other Defense Than That of Insanity.

New York, Jan. 16.—Adhering strictly to their promise to interpose no other defense than that of insanity in behalf of their client, the attorneys representing Harry K. Thaw at his trial here continued the examination of witnesses who swore that young Thaw at various times in his life appeared to them as irrational and mentally unsound. Practically all of the testimony was entirely new to the case and had to do with acts down to the day of the tragedy itself. Then came the declaration of the ten men who sat on the coroner's jury during the inquiry into Stanford White's death, all of whom declared that the defendant acted irrationally. His manner and appearance were such as to cause the inquest jury to discuss his state of mind after their formal verdict had been rendered.

In the day's testimony there was more delving into the history of the Thaw family, Alfred Lee Thaw of Richmond, Va., a third cousin of the defendant, taking the stand and telling of the taint of insanity which had caused his father and brother to die in state asylums.

Some of Thaw's alleged eccentricities, revealed for the first time, were related by Christopher Bagan, steward of the New York Whist club; by Miss Matilda Stein, a telephone operator, and by Per August Weber, a former butler in the Thaw household. Thaw spent a portion of the afternoon of June 25, 1906, at the whist club, and at that time—a few hours before the tragedy—was pictured by the steward as being highly nervous and as frequently exclaiming "this is awful." He asked the steward to have a valuable package put into the safe.

Contained Three Cigarettes.

After the shooting, the package was opened and found to contain three cigarettes wrapped in tin foil. District Attorney Jerome, in cross-examining the club steward, brought out the fact that Thaw played bridge there with many prominent men. The witness declared he was not supposed to know what Mr. Thaw, Mr. Gates, Mr. Schwab and the others played for, but he was sure nothing but mineral water was ever served at the tables.

The telephone operator told of Thaw putting in seventy-five calls one morning at the Grand hotel and then forgetting all about them.

The butler told many details of Thaw's life at home in 1903 and was still under examination when adjournment was taken.

The separate incidents of alleged irrational conduct on the part of the defendant are being put in evidence by Mr. Littleton as the foundation for the expert testimony that is to come. He also hopes to accumulate such a mass of testimony as to Thaw's erratic conduct as to make it impossible for the district attorney to fulfill the task the law places upon him of proving Thaw sane, "beyond every reasonable doubt." Criminal lawyers of prominence who are following the case outlined by the defense and who are taking into consideration the fact that a specific plea of insanity has been entered this year, declare that acquittal under the circumstances can only come with the added clause "on account of the insanity of the defendant at the time the act was committed." This, it is declared, would compel the presiding judge to commit Thaw to Matteawan asylum, from whence a fight to prove his present sanity and thus gain freedom would have to be conducted through habeas corpus proceedings.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY IN IDAHO

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16.—A dispatch to Mayor Balkeman of North Muskegon told of a triple tragedy wiping out the little party that Henry Bythorn took from there to Lane, Ida., three months ago.

Bythorn, the message said, shot and killed his sister-in-law, Rhoda Norton, fatally wounded his wife and then committed suicide. No cause is known for the tragedy. Bythorn was a mechanic who went to Idaho with a colony from Muskegon.

Earthquake in Hayti.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Jan. 16.—A serious earthquake has occurred at Gonaives, sixty-five miles northwest of this city. A few houses have been destroyed and others were damaged. No loss of life has been reported. Communication with the town is broken. The shocks continue. The first was followed by a tidal wave.

Juryman Commits Suicide.

Beatrice, Neb., Jan. 16.—John C. Peters, one of the jurors who found R. Meade Shumway guilty of murder, affixing the death penalty, committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a shotgun. Peters had brooded over the verdict rendered against Shumway two months ago.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

Case of Woman Who Shot an Attorney in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Thomas Metcalf, who fired several shots at Samuel R. Hamill, an attorney of Terre Haute, Ind., and one of the counsel for John R. Walsh, in the corridors of the federal building here, manages to preserve the veil of mystery in which she wrapped herself immediately following the incident. She was brought before a United States commissioner, waived examination and was held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $1,000. Inability to furnish this bail resulted in her being taken to the county jail.

No friend of the woman appeared when she was arraigned and no one visited her in the jail except a woman who gave the name of "Frances Rush," who was admitted to Mrs. Metcalf's cell, despite the fact that it was after visiting hours. The two held a long conversation. Mrs. Metcalf refused to discuss it afterward. The visitor's real name is said to be Lillian Gray, but her identity is practically secret.

Mrs. Metcalf only added to the puzzle by asserting that her real name is "Mrs. Beatrice Thomas." However, Attorney Hamill and several of his friends knew her as Mrs. Metcalf. The woman steadfastly refused to make a statement, but Mr. Hamill gave out several during the day in which he declared that the trouble had arisen over a belief of Mrs. Metcalf that he had failed properly to prosecute a claim against a certain estate in St. Louis, which claim, Hamill asserts, he investigated and found to be worthless.

WALSH TRIAL NEARLY ENDED

Final Chapter of Famous Case Is Begun.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The final chapter in the trial of John R. Walsh on charges of misapplying funds of the Chicago National bank, was begun when Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Dolyns began the final summing up to the jury.

Previous to Mr. Dolyns' argument, John S. Miller and Edward C. Ritscher of counsel for the defense had concluded the argument in behalf of the gray haired banker.

Mr. Ritscher delivered a short address which occupied but a little over an hour. He declared the clearing house settlement of May, 1907, a complete vindication of Mr. Walsh's accounts.

"John R. Walsh's private fortune went ahead of the bonds that were taken up by the clearing house," declared the lawyer, "and it was truthfully said by a certain banker to me: 'No one can see Walsh's private fortune go ahead of those bonds and say he is not an honest man.'"

LET'S DOWN THE BARS.

Committee Allows Amendments to the Penal Code Bill.

Washington, Jan. 16.—So persistent have been the efforts made in the house of representatives to amend the bill codifying the penal laws of the United States that the committee on the revision of the laws consented to let down the bars and as a result the measure was changed in some important particulars. The pacific attitude of the committee in this regard served to modify the opposition members and in consequence the proceedings were devoid of the heated arguments which have characterized the previous debates. When the house adjourned for the day there were pending a number of other important amendments which seemed to meet with no particular opposition by the committee, but which were passed over in order that the members might have time to consider them carefully. The portions of the bill which attracted the most attention were those covering the giving and accepting of bribes by senators and members and the sale of endorsements or support for appointive public offices. It is to the amendments touching these questions that the house will devote itself upon resuming consideration of the bill.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that he is not afraid to subject them to the light of day.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, liver and biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small standard medical work, from numerous schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address of postal card or letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotic, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Ginseng-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, averting painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

HART DISBARMENT CASE.

St. Paul, Jan. 16.—Contending that the proceedings against him should take the form of a libel suit rather than action for disbarment and that he should not be punished as an attorney for what he had done as a citizen, Captain Francis B. Hart of Minneapolis made formal objection to the proceedings which seek to remove him from the bar of the state, when the taking of testimony was begun before Gideon S. Ives, the referee.

The proceedings are upon a petition of E. H. Southworth, secretary of the state board of law examiners, charging that Hart, in writing and publishing letters criticising decisions of the supreme court, had been guilty of misconduct in his profession as an attorney at law and had been guilty also of wilful violation of his oath of office.

New York, Jan. 16.—Adhering strictly to their promise to interpose no other defense than that of insanity in behalf of their client, the attorneys representing Harry K. Thaw at his trial here continued the examination of witnesses who swore that young Thaw at various times in his life appeared to them as irrational and mentally unsound. Practically all of the testimony was entirely new to the case and had to do with acts down to the day of the tragedy itself. Then came the declaration of the ten men who sat on the coroner's jury during the inquiry into Stanford White's death, all of whom declared that the defendant the day following the shooting acted irrationally. His manner and appearance were such as to cause the inquest jury to discuss his state of mind after their formal verdict had been rendered.

In the day's testimony there was more delving into the history of the Thaw family, Alfred Lee Thaw of Richmond, Va., a third cousin of the defendant, taking the stand and telling of the taint of insanity which had caused his father and brother to die in state asylums.

Some of Thaw's alleged eccentricities, revealed for the first time, were related by Christopher Baggan, steward of the New York Whist club; by Miss Matilda Stein, a telephone operator, and by Per August Weber, a former butler in the Thaw household. Thaw spent a portion of the afternoon of June 25, 1906, at the whist club, and at that time—a few hours before the tragedy—was pictured by the steward as being highly nervous and as frequently exclaiming "this is awful." He asked the steward to have a valuable package put into the safe.

Contained Three Cigarettes.

After the shooting, the package was opened and found to contain three cigarettes wrapped in tinfoil. District Attorney Jerome, in cross-examining the club steward, brought out the fact that Thaw played bridge there with many prominent men. The witness declared he was not supposed to know what Mr. Thaw, Mr. Gates, Mr. Schwab and the others played for, but he was sure nothing but mineral water was ever served at the tables.

The telephone operator told of Thaw putting in seventy-five calls one morning at the Grand hotel and then forgetting all about them.

The butler told many details of Thaw's life at home in 1903 and was still under examination when adjournment was taken.

The separate incidents of alleged irrational conduct on the part of the defendant are being put in evidence by Mr. Littleton as the foundation for the expert testimony that is to come. He also hopes to accumulate such a mass of testimony as to Thaw's erratic conduct as to make it impossible for the district attorney to fulfill the task the law places upon him of proving Thaw sane, "beyond every reasonable doubt." Criminal lawyers of prominence who are following the case outlined by the defense and who are taking into consideration the fact that a specific plea of insanity has been entered this year, declare that acquittal under the circumstances can only come with the added clause "on account of the insanity of the defendant at the time the act was committed." This, it is declared, would compel the presiding judge to commit Thaw to Matteawan asylum, from whence a fight to prove his present sanity and thus gain freedom would have to be conducted through habeas corpus proceedings.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY IN IDAHO

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16.—A dispatch to Mayor Balkeman of North Muskegon told of a triple tragedy wiping out the little party that Henry Bythorn took from there to Lane, Ida, three months ago.

Bythorn, the message said, shot and killed his sister-in-law, Rhoda Norton, fatally wounded his wife and then committed suicide. No cause is known for the tragedy. Bythorn was a mechanic who went to Idaho with a colony from Muskegon.

SHROUD IN MYSTERY.

Case of Woman Who Shot an Attorney in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Thomas Metcalf, who fired several shots at Samuel R. Hamill, an attorney of Terre Haute, Ind., and one of the counsel for John R. Walsh, in the corridors of the federal building here, manages to preserve the veil of mystery in which she wrapped herself immediately following the incident. She was brought before a United States commissioner, waived examination and was held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $1,000. Inability to furnish this bail resulted in her being taken to the county jail.

No friend of the woman appeared when she was arraigned and no one visited her in the jail except a woman who gave the name of "Frances Rush," who was admitted to Mrs. Metcalf's cell, despite the fact that it was after visiting hours. The two held a long conversation but refused to discuss it afterward. The visitor's real name is said to be Lillian Gray, but her identity is practically secret.

Mrs. Metcalf only added to the puzzle by asserting that her real name is "Mrs. Beatrice Thomas." However, Attorney Hamill and several of his friends knew her as Mrs. Metcalf. The woman steadfastly refused to make a statement, but Mr. Hamill gave out several during the day in which he declared that the trouble had arisen over a belief of Mrs. Metcalf that he had failed properly to prosecute a claim against a certain estate in St. Louis, which claim, Hamill asserts, he investigated and found to be worthless.

WALSH TRIAL NEARLY ENDED

Final Chapter of Famous Case Is Begun.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The final chapter in the trial of John R. Walsh on charges of misapplying funds of the Chicago National bank, was begun when Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Dobyns began the final summing up to the jury.

Previous to Mr. Dobyns's argument, John S. Miller and Edward C. Ritscher of counsel for the defense had concluded the argument in behalf of the gray haired banker.

Mr. Ritscher delivered a short address which occupied but a little over an hour. He declared the clearing house settlement of May, 1907, a complete vindication of Mr. Walsh's accounts.

John R. Walsh's private fortune went ahead of the bonds that were taken up by the clearing house," declared the lawyer, "and it was truthfully said by a certain banker to me: 'No one can see Walsh's private fortune go ahead of these bonds and say he is not an honest man.'"

LETS DOWN THE BARS.

Committee Allows Amendments to the Penal Code Bill.

Washington, Jan. 16.—So persistent have been the efforts made in the house of representatives to amend the bill codifying the penal laws of the United States that the committee on the revision of the laws consented to let down the bars and as a result the measure was changed in some important particulars. The pacific attitude of the committee in this regard served to modify the opposition members and in consequence the proceedings were devoid of the heated arguments which have characterized the previous debates. When the house adjourned for the day there were pending a number of other important amendments which seemed to meet with no particular opposition by the committee, but which were passed over in order that the members might have time to consider them carefully. The portions of the bill which attracted the most attention were those covering the giving and accepting of bribes by senators and members and the sale of endorsements or support for appointive public offices. It is to the amendments touching these questions that the house will devote itself upon resuming consideration of the bill.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Medicines of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are not secret medicines, but that he is not afraid to subject them to the closest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomachs, indigestion, biliousness and all catarrhal diseases, wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing similar extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents, and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women, are the same as those found in the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the woman's functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

HART DISBARMENT CASE.

Defendant Objects to Form of Proceedings Against Him.

St. Paul, Jan. 16.—Contending that the proceedings against him should take the form of a libel suit rather than action for disbarment and that he should not be punished as an attorney for what he had done as a citizen, Captain Francis B. Hart of Minneapolis made formal objection to the proceedings which seek to remove him from the bar of the state, when the taking of testimony was begun before Gideon S. Ives, the referee.

The proceedings are upon a petition of E. H. Southworth, secretary of the state board of law examiners, charging that Hart, in writing and publishing letters criticising decisions of the supreme court, had been guilty of misconduct in his profession as an attorney at law and had been guilty also of willful violation of his oath of office.
